Introduction

Alyssa grew up outside of Philadelphia. She received her BA from Smith College in Spanish and Environmental Science in 2000. She served in the Peace Corps in northwestern Nicaragua, in the environmental education sector, from 2000-02. She has also worked at the Rocky Mountain Bird Observatory in Colorado, in education and research. She spent the past year interning at CEDO (the Center for the Study of Deserts and Oceans) in Puerto Peñasco, Mexico. Her master's thesis will address the conservation and biology of shorebirds in the Upper Gulf of California wetlands. As well as being a migratory stopover, these estuaries are also a key breeding area for endangered Least Terns.
